Edible Oils

Fiscal Year Summary 2021/2022

Who we are

Borges Agricultural & Industrial Edible Oils is a Mediterranean agrifood company founded by the Pont Family being more than 125 years old and having a strong international presence. We enjoy leading positions in the industrial processing, packaging and marketing of olive oil, seed oil and Modena vinegar, having historically sustained steady market shares for these products and a consolidated business, driven by a strong international commercial network that serves our B2B clients from 62 countries, an excellent reputation in our field and a household name for quality products.

Our mission

To generate sustainable value for our stakeholders, producing and marketing olive oil, seed oils, Modena vinegars and other food products under the best quality conditions, by developing a vertically integrated business, checking the quality and traceability of our products at all times, from their origin through to our customers.

Our vision

To achieve the international gold standard by producing and marketing oils and vinegars in a cost-effective way and with sustainable growth over time, investing repeatedly in new technologies and following the criteria to achieve the best possible quality control.

Our values

Our values express our character. They guide us and drive us in all the actions we take and are designed to meet the needs of all our customers and shareholders.

Our organisation

Our activity

Sourcing

We have our own mills, strategically located in the production areas, which together with the network of mills that operate exclusively for our Group and the field network, allow us to guarantee the traceability and quality of our products.

Industrial

This focuses on the production and packaging of olive and seed oils, nuts, dried fruits, and on the production of Modena balsamic vinegar.

Agrifood Industry

Specific products to meet the needs of each consumer.

Packaging

We produce and package for some of the most prestigious brands in the sector.

Our products

These are fundamental ingredients of Mediterranean cuisine, especially olive oil, seed oil, textured fat and Modena vinegar.

Olive oil has been recognised by nutritionists around the world for its ability to reduce cholesterol levels in the blood and prevent certain diseases and premature ageing.

We have production facilities in key locations, whose proximity to source guarantees maximum quality and storage life for the fruit. Our products are submitted to quality and traceability controls throughout the process of production and distribution, with our main business areas being:

Healthy & Green Solid Oil 4.0 a new healthy technical fat (sunflower oil base) replacing saturated fat.

Our quality certifications

We have quality controls at all stages of the production process, forming an active part of the value chain of our customers and guaranteeing traceability and food safety.

CSR & sustainability

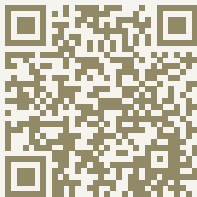

Our ambition

We want to offer a healthy diet by sustainably managing resources.”

The Group's main aim is to contribute to the development of a responsible business that guarantees sustainable consumption and production.

CSR Report

Main areas of action

Responsible farming

In this first stage Borges contemplates its collaboration with the suppliers of the agricultural sector and the external services that affect other links of the supply chain such as transport and logistics, to ensure that the purchase and the raw materials supplied are produced sustainably.

Committed people

We guarantee the well-being and development of professionals who are part of Borges, ensuring daily equality, diversity and fair working conditions. We also contribute to the development of the communities where we work and in general with the world where we live. We understand that sustainable development will only be possible if we move forward in collaboration with our stakeholders.

Healthy and sustainable products

Being aware of the influence we have on our customers, we are responsible for promoting a healthy lifestyle through our products, which should be characterised as sustainable in every way from their recyclability to their nutritional benefits.
